

Little Ones with Very Big Hearts

We are constantly amazed at our young donors. Having that “giving” spirit at a young age is so touching. Throughout the year many of the North’s littlest patients have grown very big hearts.

When Ethan turned 7 he decided that he didn’t need any birthday gifts and instead asked those he invited to his birthday to bring what they would have spent in cash instead. He kept half and donated the other half to the pediatrics ward at UHNBC. Being born at 28 weeks, and having had a few trips to UHNBC over the years, he knows how sad it can be to be in the hospital and that the smallest of things can brighten any patients’ stay.
